

README

The website is developed only using HTML and CSS. The website follows the asked specifications. To test the website.

- Open the folder 'website'
- You will find the file 'index.html' in it
- Right click on it and open it with the browser you desire (if you simple left click it, it'll open the website using the default browser)
- Test the website

Below are some comments on the website:

1. I used only basic HTML and CSS to emphasize on the power of basics.
2. Since it was not written whether the slider should be manual or automatic, I made It automatic
3. You will be redirected to the required information if you click on any muttons in the main menu
4. Lotus is the logo of the company, provided in the header
5. In the footer, only icons of social media websites have been included, these icons are not links.
